About COEP

Established in 1854, College of Engineering Pune (COEP) has a glorious history of excellence in engineering education. COEP has witnessed many notable alumni like, Bharat Ratna Sir M. Visvesvaraya, Prof. Thomas Kailath and Dr. C.K.N. Patel (both decorated with coveted IEEE Medal of Honor) and scores of others. COEP was granted autonomy in the year 2003. Today, it continues to be a role model for technical institutes of India. The hallmark of COEP is its strong and widespread alumni network, support of the industry and the companionship that the institute shares with several foreign universities. COEP is consistently ranked amongst the top 20 technical institutes in India. It is the only institute in Maharashtra state which has two Centers of Excellence under TEQIP, namely, Center for Smart Renewable Energy Systems and Center for Signal and Image Processing. Center for Smart Renewable Energy Systems, plays a remarkable role in research and technology innovations for solar-thermal systems, grid and off-grid solar/wind systems, real time simulation of the energy systems and energy management. It also aims at addressing other critical areas in energy systems that are essential for economic development in the state of Maharashtra and beyond. Center for Signal and Image Processing, is focused on investigation, research and experimentation spanning over a diversified range of signal processing and contributes in developing real life application useful to industry and society at large.

Department of Computer Engineering & IT

The Department of Computer Engineering and Information Technology, established in 1992, offers two undergraduate programmes, namely, B.Tech (Computer Engineering) and B.Tech (Information Technology), and a post graduate programme M.Tech (Computer Engineering).The department is a recognized research center under Savitribai Phule Pune University for the Ph. D. (Computer Engineering) programme. The faculty of the department is actively engaged in research in the areas of Cloud Computing, Information Security, Machine Learning, Natural Language Processing, Data Analytics, Bio-informatics, Networking, Green Computing, Signal Processing, Multimedia and Embedded Systems. The department promotes open source software development. The department boasts of having strong alumni base and industry association.

About ICSRG

Information and Cyber Security Research Group (COEP - ICSRG) is formed by the volunteers to do novel research in area of "Information and Cyber Security" in COEP and other Institutes. The group members acquire knowledge in current state of art systems and develop systems using open source softwares or freewares. The group shares knowledge to society and create awareness through conducting seminar, workshop, symposium, conference and media.

Symposium Objectives

The objectives of GCCS 2017 are to promote the importance of inclusiveness and human rights in global cyber policy, to defend the status quo of an open, interoperable and unregimented cyberspace, to create political commitment for capacity building initiatives to address the digital divide and assist countries, and to develop security solutions in a balanced fashion that duly acknowledge the importance of the private sector and technical community.

This two day symposium will provide an update on the information security issues that are relevant today. It will enable the participants to understand the latest threats, security technologies, market trends and management processes that need to be adopted.

The current legal & regulatory position and any recent developments in standards will also be discussed. By understanding the industry as it exists today, everyone will be better prepared to plan and build a more secure environment for the future of their organizations.

The symposium will benefit anyone working within the information security, data and network security arena including senior managers, IT governance executives and information security managers as well as academics.

Keynote speakers

Dr. Harold D'costa, Intelligent Quotient Security System Pune

Dr. Pravin Bhagwat and Dr. Nadeem Akhtar, Mojo Networks Pune

Dr. Ajey Gotkhindikar, KPIT Technologies Pune
